

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
MEDICAL CENTER

New York-Presbyterian

Manhattan

Cancer Services Program

Your partner for cancer screening, support and information

IRVING INSTITUTE FOR

clinical and translational research

BREAST CANCER

A free educational talk about breast cancer prevention

- Why are breast cancer screenings important? What screenings are available?
- What are the risk factors for breast cancer?
- Where can you access breast cancer screenings?
- Screening appointments will be available after the talk

Presenters: Karen Schmitt, MA, RN
Director, Cancer Services Program
New York-Presbyterian

Audrey Jimenez
Patient Navigator/Community Outreach Coordinator
Cancer Services Program, New York-Presbyterian

Date: Thursday, October 29, 2015

Time: 3:00PM - 4:30PM

Location: Columbia Community Partnership for Health
390 Fort Washington Avenue, 1st Floor, NYC 10033
Between 177 and 178 streets

- ➔ A free event open to all
- ➔ The talk will be in English and Spanish
- ➔ Refreshments will be served

To RSVP call:
(646) 697-2274