

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
MEDICAL CENTER

IRVING INSTITUTE FOR
clinical and translational research

The Future of Cancer Care

A free educational talk on personalized medicine

- What role do genetics play in cancer care?
- What is personalized cancer care?
- How can personalized medicine help you make health decisions?

Presenters:

Andria Reyes, MA, Administrative Manager & Community Health Educator
Community Ambulatory Research & Enrollment
Herbert Irving Comprehensive Cancer Center
Mercedes Bazan, Community Health Worker
Northern Manhattan Improvement Corporation

Date: Tuesday, September 20, 2016

Time: 5:30PM – 7:00PM

Location: Columbia Community Partnership for Health
390 Fort Washington Avenue, Ground Floor
New York, NY 10033

- ➔ A free event open to all
- ➔ The talk will be in English and Spanish
- ➔ Refreshments will be served

To RSVP call:
(646) 697-2274