

Tailoring Medicine to Fit You

A free educational talk on precision medicine

- What is precision medicine?
- What role do genetics play in chronic illness?
- What is the difference between precision medicine and personalized medicine?
- Who should have genetic testing?
- What research opportunities are available for the public?

Presenter: Wendy K. Chung, MD, PhD
Associate Professor of Pediatrics
Irving Institute for Clinical and Translational Research

Date: Wednesday, March 2, 2016

Time: 5:00PM – 6:30PM

Location: Columbia Community Partnership for Health
390 Fort Washington Avenue, Ground Floor
New York, NY 10033

- ➔ A free event open to all
- ➔ The talk will be in English and Spanish
- ➔ Refreshments will be served

To RSVP call:
(646) 697-2274